Tip Like most programs, the left side of the workspace is a menu bar that offers a variety of tools to choose from. The three most useful are the Selection tool, the Move tool (also called the Transform tool), and the Direct Selection tool. All three tools are covered in the Tools box on The Handy Tools. Photoshop opens with a `_cursor_`—a black dot with a white outline—instead of an empty canvas. This is how you're supposed to work with it: Figure 1-7. Make sure you have the Canvas Size tool in the top right corner of the workspace before you try to resize the image so the right side of the black box is flush with the left side. You can use keyboard shortcuts to resize the canvas—or just drag the corners of the box using the handles. When you launch Photoshop, you see an empty white canvas. So you need to tell it what size the image will be and what type of image you want to make. You can either set these parameters right away, or you can begin drawing. Figure 1-7, you can use a variety of tools to enlarge, reduce, crop, rotate, or mirror the image

191 A.2d 793 (1963) G. L. ROBERTSON, Plaintiff, v. ARUNDEL TRUCKING CORPORATION, a Delaware corporation, and Tamela Hospital, Inc., a Delaware corporation, Defendants. Court of Chancery of Delaware, New Castle. November 12, 1963. *794 Geoffrey T. Ennis, of Cohen, Shapiro, Polisher, Shur, Mehlman & Cohen, Philadelphia, Pa., and Morris, Steel, Nichols & Arsht, Wilmington, for plaintiff. Harry J. Roper and David W. Ankner, Wilmington, for defendants. MARVEL, Vice Chancellor. This is an action seeking specific performance of an alleged oral agreement to transfer to plaintiff a one-half interest in a joint venture, J. F. White Towing, Inc., which entered into a contract to tow logs at the rate of $21.00 per hour with payment in advance. Defendant Arundel Trucking Corporation, a Delaware corporation, and Tamela Hospital, Inc., also a Delaware corporation, with whom the venture is to be conducted and in which plaintiff claims an interest, have moved to dismiss the complaint upon the ground that the alleged oral agreement is not binding upon them under Article Third of the Delaware Corporation Law. Defendant Arundel Trucking Corporation was organized in Delaware in November, 1959, for the purpose of taking over and operating the business of two small subsidiaries in carload lots under common management. The liabilities of each subsidiary were assumed by Arundel Trucking for the sum of $300,000, and plaintiff was the owner of one of the two subsidiary corporations, Heuser's Transportation, Inc. and the assets of which company were transferred by plaintiff to Arundel Trucking in exchange for a one-half interest therein. The remaining defendant, Tamela Hospital, Inc. was organized under the laws of Delaware in July, 1963, with an authorized capital of $25,000,000. Its charter is for charitable purposes, primarily for the care of aged, sick and suffering persons, and grants to the corporation broad powers to maintain, conduct, establish and operate its hospital in Tamela, New Castle County, Delaware. A subsidiary corporation, Tamela Hospital Laboratories, Inc., was organized in September, 1960, to engage in scientific research and production. The defendant, Tamela Hospital, also owns a majority of the stock of the parent corporation, Tamela Laboratories, Inc

Prognostic value of plasminogen activator inhibitor-1, tissue inhibitor of matrix metalloproteinase-2, and interleukin-6 in patients with cervical cancer with or without concurrent human papillomavirus infection. It is uncertain whether plasminogen activator inhibitor-1 (PAI-1), tissue inhibitor of metalloproteinase-2 (TIMP-2) and interleukin-6 (IL-6) are prognostic factors in cervical cancer. To examine this, we studied their association with patients' survival and clinicopathological data in cervical cancer. Sixty-three patients with histologically proven cervical cancer (stages IB-IV) were studied for PAI-1, TIMP-2 and IL-6 using a commercially available enzyme-linked immunosorbent assay kit. The correlation between their serum levels and the clinicopathological findings was examined. The median follow-up time was 32 months and the 5-year survival rate was 56%. PAI-1 levels were significantly higher in patients with cervical cancer than in controls (36.8 +/- 7.9 ng/mL versus 7.5 +/- 4.6 ng/mL, respectively, $P = 0.0001$). PAI-1 level was significantly lower than that for patients with a low serum PAI-1 level

(or = 0.93 mg/mL) than in those with a low serum TIMP-2 level (
